

LOVE SPELL

I gave way to your voodoo charms while your venomous lies slithered like snakes
across your bedroom floor.

Blinded by your kisses,
I believed in love
and you.

Those glamorous words
decorated cruel secrets
you kept under wraps.

Your mask, hypnotic.

Your touch, a tango

You

Masqueraded as a butterfly,
a scorpion in disguise.

Your terrorizing magic made me your sacrifice—

You left me, an empty shell,

lifeless

and

sucked dry.